

ShopEase Exchange Policy

Document Type: Customer Support Knowledge Base

Company: ShopEase

Policy Version: 1.0

Last Updated: September 2026

1. Overview

ShopEase allows customers to exchange eligible products when they receive an incorrect item, defective item, damaged item, or an item that does not meet the customer's expectations, subject to the conditions described in this policy.

An exchange means replacing the original item with another eligible item. Depending on the reason for the exchange and product availability, customers may be able to exchange an item for:

- The same product in a different size
- The same product in a different color
- The same product in a different variant
- A replacement for a defective or damaged product
- The correct product when ShopEase shipped the wrong item

Exchanges are subject to product availability, eligibility requirements, inspection, and applicable time limits.

2. Exchange Eligibility

A product may generally be eligible for exchange when all applicable requirements are satisfied.

The following conditions may apply:

1. The exchange request must be submitted within the applicable exchange period.
2. The item must be eligible for exchange.
3. The item must generally be unused and in resalable condition unless the exchange is requested because the item is defective or damaged.
4. Original packaging should be retained whenever possible.

5. Product tags, labels, accessories, manuals, and other included components should be returned with the item.
6. The item must not show signs of intentional damage, misuse, alteration, or excessive wear.
7. The order must be associated with the customer's ShopEase account or otherwise verifiable using the order information.
8. The requested replacement must be available.

The exchange period may vary by product category.

3. Standard Exchange Period

Most eligible products can be exchanged within 30 calendar days of delivery.

The exchange period begins on the date the order is marked as delivered.

For example:

- Delivered on September 1 → exchange request should normally be submitted by September 30.
- Delivered on September 15 → exchange request should normally be submitted by October 14.

The exact deadline displayed in the customer's order details takes precedence if it differs from the standard policy.

4. Products That May Have Different Exchange Periods

Certain products may have different exchange rules.

Examples include:

- Electronics
- Large appliances
- Personalized products
- Beauty products
- Hygiene-sensitive products

- Food and consumable products
- Clearance products
- Products sold by third-party marketplace sellers

Customers should check the product page and order details for category-specific conditions.

If the product page states a shorter or longer exchange period, that product-specific policy takes precedence over the standard exchange period.

5. Size Exchange

Customers may request a different size when the product supports size exchanges.

For example:

A customer purchases a medium-sized shirt but needs a large.

If the item is eligible and the requested size is available, the customer may request an exchange for the large size.

The original item must be returned according to the exchange instructions.

If the requested size is unavailable, the customer may be offered:

- A refund
- A return instead of an exchange
- Another available variant

The available option depends on the product and order.

6. Color or Variant Exchange

Some products support exchanges between variants.

Examples include:

- Black headphones → White headphones
- Blue shirt → Green shirt
- 128 GB device → another eligible storage configuration

Variant exchanges are only available when supported by the product and fulfillment system.

If the replacement variant has a different price, the customer may need to pay the difference or receive an adjustment, depending on the circumstances.

7. Defective Product Exchanges

Customers who receive defective products may request a replacement.

Examples of defects include:

- Product does not turn on
- Product stops working shortly after delivery
- Broken component
- Missing functional component
- Manufacturing defect
- Product does not perform its advertised primary function

Customers may be asked to provide photographs, videos, serial numbers, or other information to help verify the issue.

For certain electronic products, troubleshooting may be required before an exchange or replacement is approved.

8. Damaged Product Exchanges

If an item arrives visibly damaged, customers should report the issue as soon as possible.

Examples include:

- Cracked product
- Broken casing
- Torn material
- Severe dents
- Water damage caused before delivery
- Packaging damage that resulted in product damage

Customers should retain the original packaging until the issue is resolved because the carrier or ShopEase may require photographs of the packaging.

For serious damage, ShopEase may prioritize replacement or refund rather than a standard exchange.

9. Wrong Item Received

If ShopEase sends the wrong item, customers can request a replacement with the correct product.

For example:

Customer ordered:

Black, Large, Product A

Customer received:

Blue, Medium, Product B

The customer should select the "Wrong item received" reason when starting the return or exchange request.

ShopEase may arrange collection of the incorrect item.

Customers should not be charged an exchange fee when the error was caused by ShopEase.

10. Missing Components

If a product is missing an accessory or component, customers should contact support before returning the entire product.

Examples:

- Missing charging cable
- Missing remote control
- Missing mounting hardware
- Missing product manual
- Missing accessory included in the product listing

Depending on the situation, ShopEase may:

- Send the missing component
- Replace the product
- Offer another resolution

A full exchange is not always required for a missing accessory.

11. Exchange for a Different Product

Standard exchanges are generally intended for the same product or an eligible variant.

Customers normally cannot exchange Product A for an unrelated Product B through the standard exchange workflow.

If a customer wants a completely different product, the usual process is:

1. Return the original product.
2. Receive the applicable refund.
3. Place a new order for the desired product.

The customer may need to pay the difference when purchasing the new item.

12. Price Difference

If an exchanged item has a different price, the treatment depends on the reason for the exchange.

Customer-requested exchange

If the customer voluntarily changes to a more expensive variant, the customer may need to pay the price difference.

Example:

Original item: ₹2,000

Replacement item: ₹2,500

Potential additional payment:

₹500

Exchange caused by ShopEase

If ShopEase shipped the wrong product or a defective product and the replacement is the correct equivalent product, the customer generally does not pay an additional amount because of the exchange.

13. Items That Cannot Usually Be Exchanged

Some products may not qualify for exchanges.

Examples include:

- Personalized products
- Customized products
- Opened hygiene products
- Certain cosmetics
- Certain intimate-use products
- Perishable goods
- Digital products
- Downloadable products
- Gift cards
- Products marked "non-returnable"
- Products damaged through customer misuse

The product page and order details should be checked for the exact restrictions.

14. Exchange Condition Requirements

For ordinary size, color, or variant exchanges, the returned product should generally be:

- Unused
- Clean
- Undamaged
- Free from stains

- Free from strong odors
- Free from alterations
- With original tags attached where applicable
- With original accessories
- With original packaging where reasonably possible

Products that do not meet these conditions may be rejected.

Defective and damaged products may be treated differently because normal use or damage may be part of the reported issue.

15. How to Request an Exchange

Customers can generally request an exchange through their ShopEase account.

Steps

1. Sign in to ShopEase.
2. Open My Orders.
3. Select the relevant order.
4. Select the product.
5. Choose Return or Exchange.
6. Select Exchange.
7. Select the reason.
8. Choose the available replacement option.
9. Confirm the request.
10. Follow the return instructions.

If the exchange option is unavailable, the product may not qualify for an online exchange.

Customers can contact support for further assistance.

16. Exchange Pickup

Depending on the customer's location and product category, ShopEase may provide a pickup service.

Pickup availability depends on:

- Delivery location
- Product size
- Seller
- Carrier
- Product category
- Reason for exchange

If pickup is unavailable, customers may receive instructions for dropping the package at an approved shipping location.

17. Exchange Inspection

Returned products may be inspected after they are received.

Inspection may verify:

- Product identity
- Serial number
- Physical condition
- Accessories
- Signs of misuse
- Damage
- Product completeness

The exchange is not considered final until the returned item passes any required inspection.

18. Exchange Processing Time

After the returned product reaches ShopEase or the seller, inspection and processing may take several business days.

Once approved:

1. The replacement is prepared.
2. The replacement is shipped.
3. Tracking information becomes available.
4. The customer receives delivery updates.

Processing times vary by product and location.

19. Replacement Unavailable

If the requested replacement is unavailable, ShopEase may offer another resolution.

Possible options include:

- Refund to the original payment method
- ShopEase account credit
- Exchange for another available variant
- Replacement when inventory becomes available

The available resolution depends on the product and reason for exchange.

20. Exchanges for Marketplace Products

Products sold by third-party sellers may have seller-specific exchange rules.

The order page should indicate whether the item was:

- Sold by ShopEase
- Sold by a marketplace seller
- Fulfilled by ShopEase
- Fulfilled directly by the seller

Customers should follow the instructions shown in the order details.

21. International Exchange

International exchanges may be subject to additional restrictions.

Potential limitations include:

- Customs requirements
- Import duties
- Export restrictions
- Carrier availability
- Product availability
- Regional warranty limitations

ShopEase may offer a refund instead of an international exchange when shipping a replacement is not practical.

22. Exchange Fees

For eligible exchanges caused by:

- Wrong item shipped
- Defective product
- Damaged product
- ShopEase fulfillment error

ShopEase generally does not charge the customer an exchange fee.

For customer-requested exchanges, shipping or handling charges may apply depending on the product and location.

The applicable fee, if any, is displayed before the customer confirms the exchange.

23. Multiple Exchanges

A product is normally eligible for one standard exchange per order.

Additional exchanges may require customer support approval.

Repeated exchange requests may be subject to additional eligibility checks.

24. Exchange Request Rejected

An exchange may be rejected when:

- The request is outside the exchange period.
- The product is non-exchangeable.
- The item is significantly damaged through customer misuse.
- Required components are missing.
- The product does not match the order.
- The serial number cannot be verified.
- The product has been altered.
- The item fails applicable inspection requirements.

When possible, ShopEase provides the reason for rejection.

25. Exchange Status

Customers can check the status of an exchange from:

My Orders → Order Details → Return/Exchange Status

Possible statuses include:

- Exchange requested
- Pickup scheduled
- Item picked up
- Item received
- Inspection in progress
- Exchange approved
- Replacement preparing
- Replacement shipped
- Exchange completed
- Exchange rejected

26. Frequently Asked Questions

Can I exchange an item for another size?

Yes, if the product supports size exchanges and the requested size is available.

Can I exchange an item for a different color?

Some products support color exchanges. Availability depends on the product.

Can I exchange an item after 30 days?

Most standard exchanges must be requested within 30 days of delivery. Some products have different deadlines.

What if I received the wrong item?

Start an exchange or return request and select "Wrong item received." ShopEase may arrange collection and replacement.

What if the replacement size is unavailable?

A refund or another available resolution may be offered.

Do I have to pay for an exchange?

If the exchange is caused by a ShopEase error, defective item, or damaged item, customers generally do not pay an exchange fee. Customer-requested exchanges may have applicable charges.

Can I exchange a used product?

Normal exchanges generally require the product to be unused and in acceptable condition. Defective products are an exception and are reviewed based on the reported issue.

What happens if my exchange is rejected?

ShopEase may return the original item to the customer or provide another resolution depending on the circumstances.

Can I exchange a personalized product?

Personalized and customized products are generally not eligible for standard exchanges unless they arrive damaged, defective, or incorrect.

How long does an exchange take?

The total time depends on pickup, return transit, inspection, replacement availability, and shipping.

27. Customer Support Guidance

When assisting a customer with an exchange, the support agent or chatbot should identify:

1. Order number
2. Product name
3. Delivery date
4. Reason for exchange
5. Requested replacement
6. Product condition
7. Whether the product is eligible
8. Whether the replacement is in stock

The chatbot should not promise an exchange before eligibility and availability are confirmed.

If the system cannot determine eligibility, the customer should be directed to customer support for manual review.

28. Important Policy Rule

Product-specific exchange terms displayed on the customer's order page take precedence over general exchange information in this document.

The chatbot should use the customer's actual order information whenever available rather than assuming that every product follows the standard 30-day exchange period.
