

ShopEase Return Policy

Customer Support Knowledge Base | Policy Version 1.0 | September 2026

1. Overview

ShopEase allows customers to return eligible products within the applicable return period. A return may be requested when a customer no longer wants an item, received an incorrect product, received a damaged or defective product, or when the product qualifies for another approved return reason.

Return eligibility depends on the product category, seller, condition of the item, and the return terms shown on the customer's order. Product-specific terms take precedence over this general policy.

2. Standard Return Window

Most eligible products can be returned within 30 calendar days from the date of delivery. The return deadline is calculated from the delivery date, not the order date.

Example: If an order is delivered on September 10, the customer should normally submit the return request by October 9. Some products may have shorter or longer return periods.

3. Return Eligibility

A product generally qualifies for a standard return when:

- The return request is submitted within the applicable return period.
- The item is eligible for return according to its product or seller terms.
- The item is unused and in resalable condition, unless the return is due to a defect or damage.
- Original accessories, tags, manuals, and included components are returned where applicable.
- The item has not been intentionally damaged, altered, or misused.

4. Items That May Not Be Returnable

Certain products may be excluded from the standard return policy. These can include personalized or customized products, perishable goods, opened hygiene-sensitive products, certain cosmetics, digital products, downloadable products, gift cards, and products specifically marked as non-returnable.

A product that is normally non-returnable may still qualify for assistance if it arrives damaged, defective, or materially different from what was ordered.

5. Condition of Returned Products

For a normal change-of-mind return, the product should generally be unused, clean, undamaged, and returned with its original packaging and accessories where possible. Tags should remain attached when the product was originally supplied with tags.

ShopEase may inspect returned products. Returns can be rejected or adjusted when an item shows signs of misuse, intentional damage, unauthorized modification, missing components, or excessive wear.

6. Reasons for Return

Customers may select an applicable return reason, such as:

- Changed my mind
- Wrong size or fit
- Wrong item received
- Item arrived damaged
- Item is defective or does not work
- Missing parts or accessories
- Product does not match the listing

7. Damaged or Defective Products

Customers should report damaged or defective products as soon as reasonably possible. ShopEase may request photographs, videos, serial numbers, or a description of the issue.

Customers should retain the product and its packaging until ShopEase provides further instructions. Depending on the circumstances, ShopEase may offer a replacement, repair, refund, or another resolution.

8. Wrong Item Received

If the customer receives a product that does not match the order, the customer should select the "Wrong item received" return reason. ShopEase may arrange collection of the incorrect product and provide a replacement or refund.

Customers should not be charged a return fee when the incorrect item was shipped because of a ShopEase fulfillment error.

9. How to Request a Return

Customers can generally start a return from their ShopEase account:

- 1 Sign in to ShopEase.
- 2 Open My Orders.
- 3 Select the relevant order and product.
- 4 Choose Return or Exchange.
- 5 Select Return and provide the reason.
- 6 Follow the pickup or drop-off instructions.

10. Return Pickup and Drop-Off

Depending on the customer's location, product category, seller, and carrier coverage, ShopEase may provide a return pickup. If pickup is unavailable, the customer may receive instructions for returning the package through an approved drop-off or shipping method.

Pickup availability does not by itself guarantee that the return will be approved. The returned product may still be inspected after it reaches ShopEase or the applicable seller.

11. Return Shipping Fees

Return shipping treatment depends on the reason for the return. When the product is defective, damaged, incorrect, or the return is caused by a ShopEase fulfillment issue, ShopEase generally covers the return cost.

For customer-requested returns such as a change of mind, applicable shipping or handling charges may be deducted from the refund. Any applicable charge should be displayed before the return is confirmed.

12. Return Inspection

After the returned item is received, ShopEase or the seller may inspect it to confirm that it matches the order and satisfies the applicable return conditions. Inspection may include checking the product condition, serial number, accessories, packaging, and signs of misuse.

If the return passes inspection, the refund process begins according to the applicable refund method. If the return does not meet the requirements, ShopEase may reject the return or contact the customer with available options.

13. Refund After a Return

A return and a refund are separate stages. Submitting a return request does not necessarily mean that the refund has already been issued.

Once the returned item is received and approved, ShopEase initiates the applicable refund. The time required for the refund to appear depends on the payment method and financial institution.

14. Partial Returns

If an order contains multiple products, customers may be able to return only selected items rather than the entire order. Each item is evaluated according to its own return eligibility.

Promotional discounts, bundled products, or free gifts may affect the refund amount when only part of an order is returned.

15. Return Rejection

A return may be rejected when:

- The return request is outside the applicable return period.
- The product is marked non-returnable.
- The item shows significant customer-caused damage or misuse.
- Required accessories or components are missing.
- The returned product does not match the product purchased.
- The product has been materially altered or modified.

16. Marketplace Seller Returns

Products sold by third-party marketplace sellers may have seller-specific return conditions. Customers should review the return instructions displayed on the order page. Where applicable, the seller may be responsible for approving the return and processing the refund.

17. Frequently Asked Questions

Can I return an item after 30 days?

Most standard returns must be requested within 30 days, but some products have different deadlines.

Can I return a used product?

Normal change-of-mind returns generally require an unused item. Defective or damaged products are handled separately.

What if I received the wrong product?

Start a return request and select the wrong-item reason. ShopEase may arrange collection and provide a replacement or refund.

Do I get my shipping fee back?

The treatment of shipping charges depends on the reason for the return and the applicable order terms.

How long does a return take?

The total time depends on pickup, transit, inspection, approval, and payment-provider processing.

Can I return only one item from a multi-item order?

In many cases, yes. Each product's eligibility is evaluated separately.

What happens if my return is rejected?

ShopEase may provide the reason for rejection and, where applicable, arrange return shipment of the product to the customer.

18. Customer Support / Chatbot Guidance

When a customer asks about returning an item, the support chatbot should identify the order number, product, delivery date, return reason, and current order status before giving a definitive answer.

The chatbot should verify product-specific eligibility whenever order information is available. It should not promise a refund before the applicable return and inspection requirements have been satisfied.

For ambiguous cases, the chatbot should explain the next required step rather than inventing an outcome. For example, if an item appears eligible but the system cannot determine whether it is non-returnable, the customer should be directed to customer support for manual review.

19. Policy Priority

This document provides general ShopEase return guidance. Product-specific terms, seller-specific conditions, and the return information displayed on the customer's order may override the general policy.

End of Document